CIA CHIEF SAYS USSR FORCED TO MOVE AGAINST HUNGARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 (AP) — Allen W. Dulles, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) director, said today the Russians probably moved against the Hungarian rebels because they saw "that their control not only in Hungary but throughout the whole Soviet domain was at stake."

Dulles said Nikita Khrushchev took "a great gamble" when he relaxed Stalinization in Russia. But, Dulles added:

"A little relaxation of freedom in the Soviet Union, where after all Russians were ruling Russians, was a very different thing from using the same tactics in Eastern Europe. There Russians were ruling peoples who were once free and came to be dominated and controlled by a hated foreign power."

In a speech for American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities, Dulles said youths in Poland, Hungary and elsewhere "are disproving the Kremlin's confident expectation that . . . tyranny becomes a disease."
